Rise persona 4 golden

Rise Kujikawa is a unique member of the Golden Party Persona 4 as it does not join you in battle, but it is still very important. She represents the lovers of Arcana, and you want to get to know her through her social connection plot. Rise is also a romantic character you can be friend and girlfriend with if you want - appropriately for arcana of lovers. This guide also details how and when you will return from a friendship relationship to a romantic relationship. For more help with other characters in the game, check out our P4G social link relationship & guide options. Rise Kujikawa S-Link Guide - Lovers If you plan to get to know the former idol in the Social Link Rise Kujikawa in Golden 4, this page covers you. We have all the ranks of S-Link and all the conversation options to quickly promote your relationship with Rise - and we keep it without spoiler as much as possible. Rise is of course a romantic character in P4G, meaning you can eventually make it your girlfriend if you want - it just requires you to say the right things throughout this social connection. We're covering that here, too. In The Golden 4 Pesuna your social links all have statistics as a hidden experience, and when all levels up to the next ranking is determined by these points. Saying the right things when hanging out can give you bonus points, speed up the process of being better friends and save you a lot of game time because then you can spend somewhere else, like studying for your Yasogami High School exams. The points alongside each selection in this guide are based on the value you earn with the Persona Arcana bonus - which, in Rise's case, means there's a person of arcana lovers with you every time you hang out with Rise. If you don't, you'll earn a little less points. Guests can spend time with Rise Kujikawa on Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays. She's not available on rainy days. Aliyah can be found in the Grade 1F building on weekdays, while on holidays and weekends it hangs out in the southern shopping district. Rank 1: The social link with Rise will automatically begin on July 23, which will run out some time after you first encounter the burgeoning hotel star as part of the story. It'll get you the first degree for free. Publication. Keep scrolling for moreRank 1 > 2:Choices affecting your relationship this rating: But it's a little embarrassing to show up alone, you know?
